Business Profile:

Arihant International, established in the year 2011, based in Kolkata (India), is a professionally managed organization. It is engaged in manufacturing and exporting industrial leather hand gloves, aprons, jackets, trousers, legs and arms guards along with industrial safety garments. All our products are made from superior quality hand-picked leather sourced from the best tannery in the city, and the fabric used to produce garments are from certified textile mills. We are the proud member of “Council for leather Exports” (CLE), and “Federation of Indian Export Organization” (FIEO). Our range of products include Driving gloves, Rigger/Canadian gloves, Welding gloves, Winter gloves, Industrial Garments etc. As an ISO 9001:2015, we believe in quality, sincerity and integrity while fulfilling commitments within time, thus ensuring a long and healthy relation with our esteemed clients across the globe.

Key Processes:

Though advanced technology and processing have improved the quality of our production, our team ensures the quality as they use only handpicked leathers and strictly follows the approach of testing every lot of leather before and after the production. Also, skilled supervisors are engaged to improve the stitching quality.

We have multiple checking points for each piece of garments to ensure the quality. Despite using advance machinery for production, we ensure Lab testing of every textile lot and textile GSM measurements.

Manufacturing preparation:

Producing of Industrial Leather Gloves & Garments begin with quality leather selection and certified textile selection. All of them are handpicked from specific tannery and mills. Process follows sourcing of good quality certified raw material, cutting and stitching of leather/fabric from skilled labors under experienced supervisors, checking products in every lot in each point one by one and packing the goods according to client's requirement. A final inspection is done by the Quality Assurance team before every shipment.
