Our Product Certification Details

Our hand protection models are designed for different hazards designed. These include in particular mechanical, thermal or chemical risks. The wide range of certified goods ensures uniform standards and regulates the requirements for products, employers and users.

Document and justify the selection of gloves. The certified product directive for personal protective equipment (PPE) distinguishes three categories of protective gloves:

Category 1 refers to minor risks, including for example, gloves for gardening or household use.

Category 2 gloves protect against medium risks. Usually, curable damage and injury.

Category 3 items are subject to the highest requirements and conditions. These gloves protect against irreversible and potentially fatal hazards from chemicals, radiation, extreme heat or cold, and other risks.

All of our protective gloves are in accordance with the PPE regulation marked and bear the CE mark.

In this catalog you will find suitable, certified gloves that match your identified Correspond to the need for protection. Through our production and quality assurance systems, we ensure that the certification for approval determined performance values of the specified standard are adhered to in ongoing production
